

Driver Specialist

Forget that ordinary transport company job. As a Driver Specialist in the Army you will be trained to operate some of the most advanced transport machinery and vehicles in the world. From Road Trains to 4WDs, we have them all.

Additional Information

IN BRIEF

In this driving role with a difference, you'll help manage the mass movement of troops, equipment, tanks, fuel and supplies; all of which are critical to Army capability. One of the great things about the job is the variety of vehicles you'll experience, including high-performance 4WDs, off road forklifts, trucks, road trains, fuel tankers and tank-carrying transporters. Another is the opportunity to travel extensively.

LIFESTYLE

Life in the Army is rich and rewarding. Your work could take you across Australia and even overseas. You'll have memorable experiences such as joining disaster-relief missions and participating in combat operations. You will gain skills and confidence in a supportive team environment and make friends for life. You'll also have access to extensive sport and leisure facilities ensuring a good work/life balance.

TRAINING

The Army provides full training for this role. You'll learn to drive a wide range of vehicles, gain the military skills required to participate in exercises and combat operations, and life skills that will benefit your whole career. Fitness training will also be an important part of your job, as you'll need to be in good physical shape to carry out your duties safely and effectively. Click on the Training links below for more detailed information.

WHAT YOU COULD EARN

In the Army you'll receive a competitive salary, generous Super and an excellent range of benefits. You get paid from the day you start training and your salary will increase with rank and experience.

DRIVER SPECIALISTS

can earn over $61,800 p.a.

on completion of initial employment training. This salary includes Uniform and Service allowances and applies to full time general entry.

Job Details

Other Ranks (Non Technical), Other Ranks (Non Technical) (Reserve)

Role. The role of the Royal Australian Corps of Transport (RACT) is to control and operate Army owned surface transport, other than unit transport, and to provide movement control, terminal, postal and Army aspects of air logistic support to the Army.

The RACT plays a pivotal role within the distribution network of the Australian Army. The men and women of the RACT plan and deliver the required personnel, stores and equipment, Combat Service Support (CSS) through the distribution process utilising road, rail, sea and air transportation.

The RACT has many tasks to perform including operating the Army fleet of landing craft and amphibious vehicles, all forms of road transport, distribution centres and specialist units that prepare, pack and dispatch supplies dropped from the air. To perform these tasks, the RACT is equipped with a large selection of vehicles including:

- Landrover 110 - 4 X 4 and 6 x 6 variants;
- Mercedes Benz G Wagon - 4 X 4 and 6 x 6 variants;
- Mercedes Benz Unimog - 4 x 4 Medium Rigid truck variants;
- Mack Fleetliner MC2 Heavy Rigid variants (Cargo, fuel, water);
- Mack 'R' Series MC3 variants Heavy Rigid (Cargo, fuel, water, Dump);
- Kenworth 'T' 909 series Semi trailers;
- MAN Medium 40M and Heavy HX77 protected and un-protected variants
- MAN Heavy equipment transporter/multi combination - up to 110 tonnes (to carry the Abrams main battle tank)

A Driver Specialist (DVR SPEC) is a soldier who operates and manages Army vehicles in combat support and combat service support roles, by day and by night, on all forms of roads (including off road) as required, carrying a variety of loads including cargo, personnel and dangerous goods (DG). A DVR SPEC is required to load, drive and maintain a vehicle and its associated equipment with a payload up to and including 12 tonnes (20 tonnes with trailer). The DVR SPEC may be employed to drive a variety of specialist vehicles including Water Tankers and Fuel Tankers.

Main Job Functions

A DVR SPEC can operate a range of vehicles from Land Rover to Heavy Rigid Class on all forms of roads and off-road as required. Additionally, a DVR SPEC can tow a single trailer (other than a semi-trailer) up to 20 tonnes.

The main job functions for a DVR SPEC are as follows:

- drive loaded and unloaded vehicles under all conditions, by day and by night, on formed roads and cross country;
- camouflage a vehicle;
- operate Material Handling Equipment, such as forklifts and cranes, as necessary;
- operate equipment fitted to a vehicle such as vehicle mounted cranes and winches;
- supervise and assist with the loading and unloading of vehicles;
- conduct non-technical inspections and operator servicing of a vehicle and or assist tradesmen with the repair of that vehicle when required;
- recover ditched and damaged vehicles using vehicle recovery equipment;
- operate radio/communications equipment if fitted to a vehicle;
- perform the function of Assistant Driving Instructor after a qualifying period of 12 months;
- transport Dangerous Goods and Commonwealth Explosives in accordance with Defence and civilian regulations and legislation;
- maintain transport documentation;
- convey VIPs up to Brigadier or equivalent rank;
- navigate in built up areas and in the field using civil maps, military maps and / or route cards;
- operate a military vehicle on public roads in accordance with both military and civilian legislation; and
- operate in an environment of threat

Entry

Other Ranks (Non Technical)

General Entry (Non-Technical Trainee) is the term used to describe the large number of non-technical jobs available to people entering the Army as soldiers (non-officer entry). The Army is made up of different specialist branches, called Corps, which perform various different functions such as Administration, Catering, Communications, Health, Armoured, Artillery, Engineering, Infantry and Transport.

General Entry (Non-Technical Trainee) soldiers graduate from recruit training with the rank of private and generally progress to private proficient after 12 months effective service following completion of initial employment training. Further promotion to corporal, sergeant and warrant officer is based on performance, the length of time spent in a particular rank and vacancies and will normally require the successful completion of trade and promotion courses.

Corporals (Bombardiers in Artillery) are referred to as Junior Non-Commissioned Officers, or JNCOs, while sergeants are referred to as Senior Non-Commissioned Officers (SNCOs). Warrant Officer Class One is the most senior soldier rank. A corporal will normally have some responsibility for the supervision of junior staff and this progressively increases on promotion to sergeant. A warrant officer normally has a substantial personnel management role.

Other Ranks (Non Technical) (Reserve)

In today's Army, you can choose either to work full-time or part-time. It all depends on what you would like to do. If you prefer full-time work there is the Regular Army, and if you're after part-time work there's the Army Reserve. Whether you choose full-time or part-time work, you'll become part of one of the largest and most professional organisations in Australia. An organisation with a strong team spirit, and one that offers you a very high standard of training and an opportunity to work with the latest technology.

The Army Reserve has always been about challenge and reward. As a member of the Army Reserve, you'll gain new skills and experiences as well as improving your overall level of fitness. The best part is, while all this is happening, you'll receive tax-free pay. This means you'll have the cash to do whatever you want, whether it's study, work or securing a new job.

The Army Reserve has long been a part of Australia's proud military tradition, a tradition of determination, honour and courage. For years, part-time soldiers have played a vital role in protecting the security of Australia. On the battlefields of Gallipoli, Kokoda, Korea and Vietnam, the Australian Army has forged a reputation of being a strong, well-trained and dedicated team. It is a reputation you'll be expected to uphold as we face the challenges of the 21st century.

The Army is made up of specialised branches called corps such as the Infantry, Artillery, Engineers and Transport Corps. Within each corps, there are a variety of jobs or trades available. Before you join, you should find out what jobs are available in your local area and choose the one that appeals to you most. For instance, you could choose to be a Combat Engineer, a Communications Systems Operator or a Cook. Plus there's also a need for qualified people like Motor Mechanics, Dental Assistants and many more.

Even though you are an Army Reservist, for the majority of your time in the Army, you'll be trained along side full-time soldiers. The purpose of this training is to create a more capable part-time Army that is capable of taking a more active role in the security of our country and region.

Your training begins with Recruit Training at the Army Recruit Training Centre (ARTC) near Wagga Wagga in New South Wales. ARTC is the home of recruit training and is where all soldiers, regular or reserve, commence their career in the Army. During the course, you'll receive expert training from some of the Army's best instructors. No one is saying this training will be easy, but when you complete it, you'll be proud of what you've accomplished.

So, what sort of training will you be doing during Recruit Training? You'll be trained in all the skills a soldier needs. In other words, you'll learn how to work effectively and efficiently as a member of the Australian Army.

You need to be fit to join the Army Reserve. Prior to your enlistment, you must pass a fitness assessment called the Pre-Entry Fitness Assessment (PFA). This is a combination of push-ups, sit ups and a "shuttle run".

During Recruit Training you will be required to participate in additional fitness tests. The major one is the Basic Fitness Assessment (BFA). The BFA is the minimum physical fitness standard required for all members of the Army, both regular and reserve. It is also one of the major components of the Army Individual Readiness Notice (AIRN). The BFA is harder than the PFA, as you are required to perform additional push-ups, sit ups and a 2.4 km run.

Where possible, Recruit Training will be arranged to fit in with any other commitments you may have. If you're studying or just finished school, then this is a great way to develop new skills and earn cash.

The recruit course comprises 35 days of continuous training.

Active Reserve members are required to complete a minimum of 20 days training per financial year to be considered effective. This service can be any combination of a two-week exercise, weekends or training nights.

Further information on part-time ADF careers can be found by accessing the Defence Reserves Support Council website.

The Council promotes the benefits of Reserve service by establishing partnerships with the community and employers

Pay & Allowances

Other Ranks (Non Technical)

Salary while undertaking Military (Recruit) Training: $1,406 per fortnight ($36,571 per year).*

Salary while undertaking Initial Employment Training: $1,607 per fortnight ($41,795 per year).*

While under training, you will also receive $395 per fortnight ($10,288 per year pro rata) Trainee Allowance.

Each General Entry job in the Australian Defence Force is classified into a pay grade. This particular job commences at Pay Grade 2 on completion of Initial Employment Training.

Salary (excluding allowances): $1,884 per fortnight ($48,990 per year).*

In addition to your salary, you will receive Service Allowance of $527 per fortnight ($13,717 per year). This allowance compensates a member for the unique requirements that service life may impose on an individual and his or her family.

To assist you in maintaining your uniforms in good order and condition, you will also receive a Uniform Allowance of $16 per fortnight ($419 per year).

Salary will continue to increase based on rank and the number of years of service completed in that rank. Pay Grade may also increase following the acquisition of additional skills and completion of advanced courses.

Refer to the Salary Scales for further details.

* Note: These figures do not include compulsory deductions for taxation; meals, accommodation and utilities (as applicable); and superannuation.

Other Ranks (Non Technical) (Reserve)

Salary while undertaking Military (Recruit) Training: $100.19 per day tax free.

Salary while undertaking or waiting to complete Employment Training: $114.51 per day tax free.

Each General Entry job in the Australian Defence Force is classified into a pay grade. This particular job is classified as a Pay Grade 2 occupation, after completion of the second module of Employment Training.

Members of the Reserve on part-time service are paid at a daily rate of pay and on completion of training, this occupation attracts a starting rate of $134.22.01 per day.

In addition to your salary, a Reserve Allowance of $28.19 per day is payable to compensate for the unique demands of Reserve Service.

General Requirements

Age Requirement

Other Ranks (Non Technical)

Applicants must be aged between 17 and 55 years of age inclusive on day of entry.

Applicants will not be allowed to enter the ADF until they achieve a minimum of 17 years of age, however they may be able to initiate the application process from 16 years and six months of age, depending upon the capacity of their local recruiting centre.

Other Ranks (Non Technical) (Reserve)

Applicants must be aged between 17 and 60 years of age inclusive on entry.

Applicants will not normally be allowed to enter the ADF until they achieve a minimum of 17 years of age, however they may be able to initiate the application process from 16 years and six months of age, depending upon the capacity of their local recruiting centre.

Citizenship Requirement

Only Australian citizens are permitted to serve in the ADF.

If you are a Permanent Resident of Australia, the ADF may consider a temporary waiver of the citizenship requirement if the position for which you are applying cannot be filled by an applicant who meets all the citizenship requirements, and then only in exceptional circumstances. You will be required to obtain Australian citizenship as early as possible following enlistment or appointment.

More information on citizenship requirements and the citizenship waiver process is available from the Recruitment Centre or your local Defence Force Recruiting Centre.

Security Requirement

The Department of Defence requires ADF employees to have security clearances appropriate to their employment.

A process of background checks, collection of relevant information and, as required, interviews, enables the Australian Government Security Vetting Agency to make an informed assessment of an applicant's suitability for a security clearance.

The minimum security clearance level required is Negative Vetting Level 1, and current policy requires applicants to have a checkable background for the previous 10 years. Required information includes:

- Residence
- Employment
- Education
- Credit

Australian Citizenship is a requirement for a security clearance and a clearance will only be granted to a non-citizen in exceptional circumstances.

NOTE: The security clearance is critical to an applicant's successful progression through the Army training system. If an applicant is unable to obtain the required security clearance in time, they will not be allowed to continue their training and may need to be re-allocated to another employment category. As such, it is strongly recommended that all applicants obtain the required documentation as soon as possible to provide the best opportunity to be employed in their preferred employment category.

Aptitude Requirement

The application process to join the Australian Defence Force requires you to complete a series of aptitude tests including verbal, spatial and numerical ability and a general maths test. Some jobs may also require you to complete additional testing at a later date.

Psychology support staff will explain what is involved with each test.

Further information on the aptitude testing requirements can be found here.

Education & Experience

Other Ranks (Non Technical), Other Ranks (Non Technical) (Reserve)

Completion of Australian Year 10 education (or equivalent) with passes in English and Mathematics.

or

You may be eligible to sit an Alternative Education Equivalency (AEE) assessment to ascertain your ability at the required educational level for this trade.

Further information is available here.

Medical & Fitness Requirements

Other Ranks (Non Technical), Other Ranks (Non Technical) (Reserve)

To be enlisted, you must be medically and physically fit for entry to your chosen occupation. This is partially assessed from the completion of an extensive questionnaire covering your medical history, followed by a physical examination.

You will also be required to pass a physical fitness test before enlistment. For further details on medical and physical fitness standards refer to Physical Fitness Standards for Entry into the ADF and Medical Process for Entry into the ADF.

Period of Service

Other Ranks (Non Technical)

You will be enlisted for an Initial Minimum Period of Service (IMPS) of four years. Subsequent periods of service may be offered subject to the requirements of the ADF and your suitability for further service. You may request discharge at any time provided you do not have an outstanding Initial Minimum Period of Service obligation.

Your Careers Counsellor can advise on how IMPS will relate to your chosen occupation.

Other Ranks (Non Technical) (Reserve)

All candidates who are appointed or enlisted into the Army Reserve may undertake volunteer service until the age of 65 (Compulsory Retiring Age), subject to the requirements of the Army and suitability for further service. Members may transfer out of the active Army Reserve at any time.

Additional Requirements

Other Ranks (Non Technical), Other Ranks (Non Technical) (Reserve)

Applicants do not require a civilian licence to undertake Defence driver training. However, if the applicant is currently under a suspension or has their civilian licence cancelled, that applicant is not eligible to enlist within this trade until that suspension or cancellation has expired.

Military Training

Other Ranks (Non Technical)

All General Entry recruits into the Australian Regular Army are required to complete the Recruit Course.

Total Duration: 80 days.

Location: Kapooka, Wagga Wagga, NSW.

Recruit training is the same for male and female entrants. During the 80 day Army Recruit Course you will be required to take part in physical training, weapon handling and shooting, first aid, drill and field craft. The training is deliberately challenging and has been designed to prepare you to be a soldier in today's Army. Recruits gain a sense of achievement, purpose and confidence during basic training, and on completion of the course feel justifiably proud of what they have achieved.

For more details on recruit training, refer to the Joining instructions. These instructions will provide you and your family with enough information to arrange your personal affairs before enlistment in the Army, and give you an idea of what you will be doing on the recruit course.

Further information is also available at the Army Recruit Training Centre website.

During Military (Initial Recruit) Training and (Initial) Employment Training, members may be required to pay a contribution towards meals, accommodation and utilities.

Other Ranks (Non Technical) (Reserve)

All General Entry recruits into the Australian Army Reserve are required to complete the Recruit Course.

Duration: 35 days continuous

Location: Kapooka, Wagga Wagga, NSW

Recruit training is the same for male and female entrants. During the Reserve Recruit Training Course you will be required to take part in physical training, weapon handling and shooting, drill, first aid, navigation and field craft. The training is deliberately challenging and has been designed to prepare you to be a soldier in today's Army. Recruits gain a sense of achievement, purpose and confidence during basic training, and on completion of the course feel justifiably proud of what they have achieved.

For more information on the content of Recruit Training refer to the Joining Instructions.

Further information is also available at the Army Recruit Training Centre website.

Note: You should be aware that you must commence recruit training within 6 months of enlistment.

Employment Training

Other Ranks (Non Technical), Other Ranks (Non Technical) (Reserve)

Driver Specialist Training Course

Medium Rigid Truck (Unimog) with the option of G Wagon or Heavy Rigid Truck (Mack) qualification pending suitability.

Location: Road Transport Wing, Army Logistic Training Centre, Puckapunyal, VIC.

Duration: Up to 60 Days (Reservists may complete in three modules).

For Reservists: The G Wagon and Unimog course can be attended in any order but at least one of these licences must be held prior to attending the RACT TAC OPS.

Once a Unimog licence is obtained, a member may then be trained on the Mack Truck Heavy Vehicle or equivalent.

Note: When attending the Drivers Specialist Course, there is no requirement to hold a civilian licence. However, if the applicant is currently under a suspension or has their civilian licence cancelled, that applicant is not eligible to enlist within this employment category until that suspension or cancellation has expired.

Employment Location

Other Ranks (Non Technical), Other Ranks (Non Technical) (Reserve)

Driver Specialists are required by most units of the Army, Australia wide.

Defence Force Recruiting disseminates information free of charge for the benefit of the public. Defence Force Recruiting monitors the quality of the information available on this website and updates the information regularly. However, Defence Force Recruiting gives no express or implied warranties, and makes no representations, in relation to this website or the accuracy, reliability, currency or completeness of any material contained on this website or on any linked site.

For more information see <http://www.defencejobs.gov.au/global/copyrightandprivacy.aspx>